One Day Boot Camp For First Year Youth Ministers

August 14, 2019
10:30 a.m. - 3:30 p.m.

Diocese of Charleston
Assembly Hall Building

The Youth Minister 1 Day “Boot Camp” is a day long training to help youth ministers find their way in youth ministry. New youth ministers need to be adequately prepared for a role that is often riddled with unanticipated potholes, curves, and fuel shortages!

A new youth minister needs to understand the challenges of the terrain and be given a road map for building dynamic, disciple-making youth ministries that transform the lives of young people and all the while staying healthy themselves. The 1 Day “Boot Camp” is all this and more! Plus, you will receive great resources that are more than the cost of the registration!

At the Youth Minister Boot Camp you will learn:

- * Your relationship with Jesus is more important than what you do!
- * To develop a vision that inspires and encourages investment.
- * To understand how to focus your first years in youth ministry.
- * How to gain valuable skills in ministry to teens.

Topics to be discussed:

- * Getting started the right way
- * Planning for the year – developing a realistic calendar
- * How to create and keep a budget?
- * Developing adult/youth CORE teams
- * Planning youth nights with a purpose
- * Where to get resources that really help
- * Basic diocesan guidelines that you need to know

Plus a tour of the chancery and meet the different offices that interact with youth ministry.

Presenters

Joan LaBone

Joan serves as the youth minister of St. Mary Help of Christians in Aiken, SC.

Joan is one of the most respected youth ministers in our diocese. She brings a wealth of knowledge and passion to her position.

Joe Maggio

Joe Maggio serves as the youth minister at St. Mary Magdalene Catholic Church in Simpsonville. Though he didn't know youth ministry was an actual job, the Lord chose to call him to serve for the past 20 years. He enjoys time with his family, seeing youth come to know Jesus, and being an instigator.

Mike Sylvester

Mike Sylvester serves as the youth minister of St. Gregory the Great in Bluffton. Mike also served as a Diocesan Director of Youth Ministry. Mike is known for his creativity in programming and developing outstanding CORE groups.

Deacon Jerry White

Deacon Jerry White has served as the diocesan director of youth and young adults for the past 20 years. Jerry has a combined 30 years in youth ministry.
