Charity organization answers questions

CHARLESTON, SC – Catholic Charities of South Carolina, under the leadership of Most Rev. Jacques Fabre-Jeune, CS, Bishop of Charleston, has released a document outlining the services it provides and answering questions people have about the independent 501 c (3) organization. The report is available here: <https://bit.ly/3QEd3pF>.

“Matthew 25:40 reminds us that whatever we do to the least of Jesus' brothers and sisters, we do to him,” said Most Rev. Jacques Fabre-Jeune, CS. “As people of good will, we are called to serve those in need and to take care of each other. This is the active mission of Catholic Charities of South Carolina: to serve people who are experiencing poverty, hunger, homelessness, and in critical conditions.”

Annually, this aid organization of the Catholic Church serves tens of thousands of individuals and families in the Palmetto State through its various outreach programs and services. Catholic Charities of S.C. has had an incredible impact on local communities across the diocese. Learn more about the outreach's services and assistance at www.charitiessc.org.
